

Dears,

Kindly find attached an updated version of my CV, along with the required design review for Http://careers.dubaiairports.ae home page. As I am applying for the [UI Developer/Designer] vacancy posted on LinkedIn. In the full hope that I will be given a chance to prove my personal, conceptual, and technical capabilities.

I believe that I am smart, precise and really love what I do. I have a sharp eye on every visual pixel as well as every interaction scenario it might be part of. I have always had this chance to collaborate in developing cutting-edge and pixel-perfect projects and solutions that impact millions of people. With a postgraduate technical academic background, I have my own unique business sense out of my major academic studies, combined with a natural talent and full crowded seven years of hands-on commercial experience.

As I am certain that you are seeking talented and qualified candidates, and as that I'm certain that you'll only judge applicants on their ability and nothing else, and out of my background, overall capabilities and official experience, I do believe that I am the expert you are seeking for, I just need an opportunity to let you experience this yourself.

The Beta release of my online portfolio demonstrates my technical and conceptual capabilities is running online at: www.karakeeb.me
